

Introduction

Named after their architect, John Nash, and Linda Brandon, a former Director of Talks at the ICA, The Nash and Brandon Rooms are Grade 1 listed, Regency period drawing rooms that are licensed to perform both marriage and civil ceremonies.

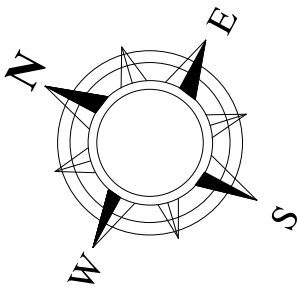

The Nash Room features three balconies that overlook St James's Park and the Mall providing one of the most stunning views in Central London with the Brandon Room overlooking Carlton House Terrace and Waterloo East Garden. Both rooms are sold as a pair and are connected by an ornately decorated anteroom.

The Rooms can accommodate up to 90 guests seated in one room and 150 for standing receptions across the two.
